Stunning and gives more insight to the story.. If you like a tutorial...buy something else...if you want to be challenged about the entire concept of "What do I do here?" then this is for you.

At first it felt kind of "limbo-ish", because after you press start nothing happens...you'll have to jab at your controller to get into the game proper. Even then, there's no preamble, no "this is why you are here". So you just have to touch stuff and see what happens...

...and things do happen....wonderfully animated things.

...you don't have to walk to far to find a "questgiver" of sorts. In fact, hje's a bit of an "anti-questgiver" ...he basically says don't try and figure out why you're here..go do some more stuff, see what happens.

Explore. Interact. Fail. Try something different. Think you're stuck when you're not. Realise that sheep are more powerful than they appear (doubly so when wet).

Great game. 10V10V. Bought the game yesterday - already played 7 hours.
It feels familiar, and fresh at the same time - good mix of old and new:

Graphics, some tower placing/enemy waves/experience gain after beating a map mechanics feel very familiar.
Gems needed to be stolen and carried all the way back by monsters, towers becoming upgradable after killing enough enemies during current game - that is a nice and refreshing change compared to most TD games I played.

Game feels like it's medium in size and complexity, but for the money It's a good value IMO.

All in all, it'd rate it 8/10. This would be a good game if the AI wasn't running on a script and if the multiplayer actually worked.. Loot driven Geometry Wars, as simple as that. So far, neither of these two parts is excellent, but both are very good. Requires you to look past the subpar graphics. Expect to die a lot at the beginning, your lv1 white equipment won't take you too far.

It's a fun little casual game about badgers, in space.

Generally something you can pick up and play whenever you have a few minutes spare.

If you can, pick it up.. game is ♥♥♥♥♥but like for cards :D. Puzzler world is like a puzzle magazine from a kiosk but you can make 3 different profiles, so also other family members can play the game with an own profile (or you try the puzzles in an other language) and of course you have way more puzzles than the most magazines have.

Variety:

There are different types of puzzles, for example Wordsearch, Sudoku, Fitword, Silhouette, Spot the difference, Crossword, Code word, Hangman and so on. In the challenge mode you can play 560 main puzzles and always when you solved one you are able to play an other mini puzzle. So the amount of puzzles in this mode is 1.120. There is also a Quickplaymode but the puzzles in this mode are so easy that you very probably won't play it. Anyways for so many puzzles I give 10/10 points because the most puzzle magazines have like 100-200 puzzles.

Languages & Orthography:

The possible languages which you can choose are: American English, British English, German, Spanish, French and Italian. Of course this is a great selection but maybe they should add also Russian and I can't give the full points because there are sometimes little spelling mistakes in the game, e. g. I have had a hangman puzzle where I had to search a \u201epanet\u201c (correct word would be planet) and the result was \u201emerker\u201c but the planet is called in German \u201eMerkur\u201c (english = Mercury). Such mistakes are really rare and don't disturb the game too much so I can give for the languages and ortography 8/10 points.

Graphic:

The graphic is simple. What else? You can't expect that much from a puzzle game and it's adequate for some minutes playing puzzles. For the people who want to make all the achievements as fast as they can, I give the advice to make some breaks between. You don't have the highest resolution in this game so if you play it for hours you maybe get stinging eyes or a headache. My points: 5/10

Controls:

The controls are really easy. You can use the keyboard or you click on the letters with your mouse. There is also a handwriting recognition function. 10/10

Level of difficulty:

Some of the puzzles are really easy, some are normal. Sometimes you need a bit time to get the solution but it won't break you if you are into such puzzles. Sadly there is no option to change the level of difficulty. :(

Achievements:

There are 15 achievements which you get easily. No bugged ones. The only con is that there are no leaderboards.

Price: The normal price for this game is 4,99 \u20ac. For so many puzzles this price is okay but I advise to buy the game on a sale. I bought it at Steam Summer Sale for 0,79 \u20ac (valuta calculator says: 1,08 Dollar ^^) and for this price I am really happy with this game.. I don't know how this game actually got a remaster considering how niche its genre is, only that it deserves it. Back on the SNES it was the best gallery shooter ever made, and somehow they made it even better. New levels, new characters with new play styles, better graphics and sound; it's a fantastic update to an excellent little gem. The one mark off is that it's only local multiplayer, but by all means, if you've got the setup for that, get this game.

Also it's the absolute best cowboy game because you can lasso giant robot tanks and explode everything ever. Apparently planes in 1912 were actually people on the ground with a floating ring on their heads.. Very good. Some tough puzzles but all of them are achievable and plausable.

Great visuals and sound and an intriguing story.

Can't wait for the next chapter.. a b s o l u t e l y a d d i c t i v e !. Very simple game, and the idea is as old as the world. The essence of the game in the search for differences between the two pictures. There are no cards, but there are many achievements that you can get. In general, the game is fun, you can spend several hours in it.
